

The Call Conference is unlike any other experience for students considering what God's call on their life may be.

Imagine a weekend with peers and educators focused on a life of ministry.

The Call Conference (Cohort 1 - Fall 2008) is centered on the Apostle's Creed, how this foundational document of the Christian faith is key to our understanding of God, and has modern applications for our lives, whether in the work force or in full-time ministry.

The Call Conference at Northwest Nazarene University is for qualified High School Juniors or Seniors. All interested students must apply to their Districts and be accepted to the program.

Each class will be taught by a Doctoral level professor. Students will also hear real life stories from Christian professionals working within the secular sector and from full-time ministry professionals.

Qualifying students will also be able to receive two college credits for their work in the Call to Ministry program.

Is God calling you to ministry? Has God placed a burden on your heart to listen to and live out His call for your life, wherever your journey takes you?

If so, the Call Conference may be for you.
